To Develop Supersonic Transport

Previous Plans Had Been On Tentative Basis

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson gave definite orders today for development of a supersonic transport plane.

He said at the swearing-in of the new administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency, retired Gen. William McKee, that the administrator will have charge of the program.

Until the President made his announcement, plans for further development of a U.S. supersonic transport had been on a tentative basis, subject to evaluation of preliminary work.

Plans call for the U.S. plane to be capable of speeds up to 2,000 miles an hour, in contrast to the smaller 1,500-mile-an-hour Concorde being developed by Great Britain and France.

Earlier this month the Soviet government announced it also is working on development of a faster-than-sound airliner.

Turning to a number of senators and representatives at the ceremony, Johnson said he will ask an appropriation of $140 million for the next phase of the program.

He said that phase of design will cover an 18-month period starting about Aug. 1, and will involve the same four manufacturers who have been taking part in the earlier stages of the program.

Johnson said the FAA administrator will be authorized to enter into contracts with the manufacturers to undertake detailed design work and tests.

The President said he was ordering the program on the basis of an intensive appraisal of the supersonic transport situation by an advisory committee headed by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Johnson said the committee has informed him that considerable progress has been made in the last several months and has shown the probability that, with further work on basic technological problems, a commercially profitable supersonic transport can be developed.

The four manufacturers who will be invited to continue their work are the Boeing Co., Seattle, and the Lockheed Co., Burbank, Calif., developers of two different types of airplanes, and the General Electric Co., Cincinnati, and the Pratt and Whitney Division of United Aircraft Corp., East Hartford, Conn., engine manufacturers.

Johnson had high praise for the departing FAA administrator, N. E. Halaby.

"Every passenger who flies across this country owes him a debt of gratitude," Johnson said.

Women Broader

WASHINGTON (AP) — What you may have suspected has now been proven — women are broader across the seat than men.

Not much broader — 14.4 inches on the average to the men's 14 inches.

This is one of the findings of a survey of almost 7,000 adults from 18 to 79 years released by the Public Health Service Tuesday.

They made the survey to aid in the design of commercial, industrial, military or medical equipment "to insure its safe, efficient and comfortable use."

Three Injured

Jet Breaks Up On KC Runway

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A Continental Airlines 707 jet skidded off the end of a rain-slick runway early today, through a fence over an earthen bunker, across the airport, across a road and came to rest against a dike at the edge of the Missouri River.

Three persons were injured, two crew members and one passenger, said Ralph Heininger, district sales manager of the airline.

The aircraft, which carried 59 passengers and seven crew members, broke into three sections. One break was just behind the cockpit of the four-engine jet in what is termed the "first class passenger section." The other break occurred near the tail section of the fuselage.

The airplane, flight 12, non-stop from Los Angeles to Kansas City was piloted by Capt. Le Zerbe of Los Angeles. The accident occurred just shortly after the plane landed at 5:28 a.m. in a heavy thunderstorm. Visibility in the Kansas City area was reported at between a quarter of a mile to one-half mile.

See Deficit For New US Fiscal Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government entered its sixth straight year of red-ink financing today but pointed with some pride to a sharply reduced deficit in the fiscal year just ended.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler announced that the fiscal 1965 deficit, on which the books closed at midnight, was an estimated $3.5 billion. That compared with President Johnson's January forecast of a $6.3 billion deficit.

The secretary foresaw a $4.2-billion deficit for the new fiscal year. That implies a $1.1-billion improvement since January. Some other officials predicted privately that this deficit, too, will be whittled down if the business boom continues.

Assurance that the boom will indeed continue was given by Fowler at a fiscal year-end news conference. Conditions are excellent, he said, for "sound, stable and sustainable economic health and expansion."

Fowler went on: "So far as the eye of economic foresight can see ahead, there is no indication of economic difficulty."

"It is still entirely possible to have a recession some time in the distant future; (but) our analysis of the economic situation reveals none of those imbalances or excesses that bring about economic downturns."

However, the fiscal outlook is not completely rosy. Government sources reported that:

The $100-billion yearly spending level, avoided narrowly by Johnson for the past two years, undoubtedly will be crossed in fiscal 1967, the year which begins 12 months from today.

The Defense Department, which provided most of the budget cuts that made room for Johnson's new "Great Society" programs, is unlikely to find further substantial savings possible.

and two crew members, Bonnie Graler, 20, Englewood, Calif., and Harold Cameron, 28, El Segundo, Calif.

Another passenger, Albia Littschwager, 53, Torrence, Calif., was hospitalized after he complained of chest pains. He suffered leg abrasions.

About half of the passengers were military personnel. Among them were two Air Force chaplains, Lt. Col. Jack Moses, 50, Lubbock, Tex., and John Haughton, 40, Los Angeles.

They said the pilot reversed the engines but it appeared the brakes were not holding or had failed to function.

Amendments Up For Vote During Year

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Missouri voters will have the opportunity in the next few months to vote on eight state constitutional amendments proposed by the 1965 legislature that quit work at midnight Wednesday.

Three of them have been set for a special election Aug. 17 and some of the others may wait for the general election in November, 1966.

Scheduled for quick consideration are constitutional changes that would:

Let a Missouri governor serve not more than two four-year terms if he can get elected for the second time. It was the recommendation of Gov. Warren E. Hearnes and he has said he would try for a second term if the change is approved.

Let municipalities sell or transfer industrial plants now they can build them with revenue bonds but can't get rid of them.

Establish a House of Representatives of 168 members instead of the present 163.

Also approved were constitutional changes that would:

Give St. Louis City and county a fifth way of attempting to merge at least some of their offices.

Let local governments provide pension systems for their employees.

Allow St. Louis and Jackson counties to provide pension systems for their workers.

Permit school districts to levy up to $1.25 on the $100 assessed valuation without a vote of the people. Now the levy limit is $1 in all the state except St. Louis where the limit is 89 cents.

Provide a retirement system for St. Louis County police.

Urge City Fathers To Grow Beards

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — City fathers have been challenged to grow beards.

Abe Koblenz, chairman of Chattanooga's sesquicentennial celebration, told the city commissioners Tuesday, "I want you to be courageous. I want you to be bold. Grow a beard. You are not going to lose votes. We are going to have 20,000 growing beards."

Vice Mayor Dean Petersen so far is the only commissioner showing support of the idea. He is cultivating a mustache.

Morse Hits LBJ Policy On Viet War

Says US Should Go Through UN Security Council

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse called on the Johnson administration today for an all-out effort to "stop the war" in Viet Nam and "to exhaust every possible means of doing so through the United Nations."

The Oregon Democrat, long an outspoken critic of President Johnson's Southeast Asian policy, declared that the President's 20th anniversary speech to the U.N. last week "unfortunately honored the charter of the organization more in the breach than in the observance."

Noting that Johnson expressed a willingness to accept whatever effective action the U.N. might take, Morse contended the President said nothing "to indicate that the United States is willing to accept the obligations for international behavior placed upon us by our signature on that charter."

"We can not stop the war alone," Morse declared in a Senate speech. "But the United Nations could, if it would, and the United States has more to gain from a U.N.-imposed peace than from a continuation of the fighting that can lead anywhere but to victory on our terms."

If anything has been learned, Morse said, "it is that the United States, acting alone, can not end the war."

Stocks Gain One Quarter Of Losses

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, having regained in two days 25 per cent of its six-week loss, paused for a breather early this afternoon.

Prices were slightly on the downside and trading was moderate.

This was in sharp contrast to the mammoth gains and very heavy trading of the two previous days.

However, the development didn't catch Wall Street by surprise. Brokers said the market could hardly be expected to maintain the momentum of Tuesday and Wednesday.

Changes of key issues were mostly fractional with a few losses running to a point or so.

American Telephone eased a minor fraction despite its report of record earnings for the 12 months ended May 31.

Drackett traded at 33, off 1/2, on a block of 25,000 shares.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was off .7 to 317.7 with industrials off 1.8, rails up .2 and utilities off .2.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon had lost 3.52 to 864.51.

Motors, farm implements, aircrafts, utilities, nonferrous metals, chemicals, rails and airlines declined. Rubber, building materials and drugs advanced.

Du Pont, heavily weighted in the averages, contributed to their drop with a loss of more than a point.

Prices were mixed in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

Legislature Ends Session Before Midnight Deadline

Hit Planes

Cong Sneaks In Attack On Base

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong killed one American, destroyed three planes and damaged three others in a hit-and-run attack on the Da Nang air base today. But U.S. Air Force and Navy planes struck at North Viet Nam during the day without letup.

Bridges, barracks and radar installations were among the prime targets, and more propaganda leaflets were dropped over populated areas, a U.S. spokesman said. He said all planes returned safely.

More U.S. Marines landed in South Viet Nam, at the coastal city of Qui Nhon. A U.S. spokesman said between 400 and 500 were coming ashore from 7th Fleet ships and would provide security for the Qui Nhon area as well as "combat support for the republic of South Viet Nam's armed forces."

Qui Nhon, 270 miles northeast of Saigon, is the fourth area to be defended by the Leathernecks. The others are the air bases at Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, Chu Lai, 20 miles south of Da Nang, and Phu Bai, 35 miles north of Da Nang.

In the central highlands 150 miles south of Da Nang, four Americans and about 50 Vietnamese were killed in a Communist ambush near Cheo Reo. But the Red guerrillas were driven off with heavy losses after a day of close-in fighting.

The unofficial total of American combat dead in Viet Nam totaled 445 since December, 1961.

The hit-and-run attack on Da Nang was carried out while a majority of the Americans on the key base were asleep.

U.S. military authorities in Saigon said their information indicated a small group of guerrillas—possibly six men—infiltrated onto the base with explosives and 57mm recoilless rifles.

A spokesman said barbed wire circling the base was found cut.

A U.S. spokesman said one U.S. Air Force policeman was killed by small arms fire and two U.S. Marines were wounded.

Two C130 Hercules transports and an F102 Delta Dagger jet interceptor were destroyed, and another Hercules and two Delta Daggers were damaged, the spokesman said. All were at the southern end of the airstrip.

He said fire from the recoilless rifles hit the four-engine turboprop transports and jet fighters.

A U.S. Army spokesman announced a Communist guerrilla from North Viet Nam was captured following the attack. He said the guerrilla admitted taking part in the assault.

Easy Going For Housing Bill Seen

Johnson Says Approval Is 'Historic Step'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A housing bill containing a modified version of President Johnson's rent supplement plan headed for comparatively easy going in the Senate today after one of the closest votes in the House on any Johnson administration proposal.

The controversial portion of the $5.3-billion measure — the provision for subsidizing rent of low income families — survived a 208-202 vote in the House Wednesday only after the Democrats handling it had drastically modified it from the original administration conception of a program for families above the actual needy level.

As the House finally passed it, on a 245-169 roll call vote, the bill closely resembles legislation already approved by the Senate Banking Committee. The Senate version carries a somewhat higher price tag, but estimates of the ultimate cost of a four-year program embracing grants, loans and loan guarantees are imprecise.

But resting on the senate calendar at adjournment time was a Hearnes-sponsored bill to allow voters to approve general obligation bond issues by a 60 per cent instead of a two-thirds majority.

And House members, dragging their feet all day to avoid them, left two liquor bills on the calendar to permit sale of liquor by the drink at Lambert-St. Louis Airport and at plush resorts in Missouri's lake resort areas.

The Congressional Redistricting Bill, a last minute product, left districts with a population variation of less than 10 per cent.

But some other legislators in both Houses objected to it vigorously. They said their areas had not been treated fairly and the districts did not meet the federal court's one man-one vote rule.

Efforts to filibuster the issue in the final hours failed.

The final omnibus or catch-all bill passed the Senate one minute before the automatic midnight adjournment deadline.

Earlier, the presiding officer, Lt. Gov. Thomas F. Eagleton, ruled debate could proceed on the bill after midnight as long as it had been taken up before then.

In its final form, the bill carried an estimated $9,868,000 in general revenue—about $3 million more than the original figures but not counting $10 million in extra state aid for schools that was handled in another bill.

The last minute omnibus bill included $170,000 for the new Council of the Arts, one of the Governor's few new programs, and $40,000 each for new four-year state colleges at Joplin and St. Joseph.

Hearnes Gives Thanks For Best Cooperation

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Missouri's 1965 Legislature finished its action on bills one minute before midnight Wednesday night with passage of a final catch-all appropriation bill.

Both Houses earlier passed a Congressional Redistricting Bill designed to meet the federal courts "one man-one vote" decree.

Governor Warren E. Hearnes set a precedent by appearing before both houses to thank them for their cooperation. He said the 1965 General Assembly would go down in history as one of the greatest sessions Missouri has ever seen. He told the Senate:

"I think you were truly magnificent and I thank you from the bottom of my heart."

Hearnes said in a statement that all 19 of his major recommendations had been passed. He called it a record for legislative cooperation.

But resting on the senate calendar at adjournment time was a Hearnes-sponsored bill to allow voters to approve general obligation bond issues by a 60 per cent instead of a two-thirds majority.

Cong Attack On Air Base A Surprise

Hit Weak Spot In Perimeter Of Base Defense

DA NANG, Viet Nam (AP) — How could it happen?

How could a small suicide force of guerrillas penetrate one of the world's most heavily guarded air bases and in 10 minutes cause more than $5-million damage?

The answer lies in two factors as old as the art of warfare—careful planning and complete tactical surprise.

The attack, launched from a graveyard, came at a graveyard hour—1:30 a.m. The damage might have been greater except for mischance.

A young air policeman bringing coffee to a guard on duty farther down the line apparently sighted the enemy. He drew his pistol and opened fire.

A burst from an automatic weapon held by one of the running figures killed him. He was the only U.S. fatality in the attack.

Working swiftly with grenades, recoilless rifles, and demolition charges, the infiltration crew, estimated at 25 men or fewer, attacked three parked F102 fighters and three C130 cargo planes.

As they worked, confederates hidden some 3,000 yards away combed the runway with mortars.

Then, as flares and explosions lit up the area with fierce flames, the attackers withdrew as quickly as they came.

Although the base is technically guarded by about 9,500 U.S. Marines, its eastern border is patrolled by Vietnamese forces. It is here the enemy struck.

Big Change In Missouri Sales Taxes

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes signed two bills today making broad changes in the Missouri sales tax law.

One sets up a new bracket system starting the tax at 15 instead of 25 cents. The other makes the 3 per cent levy a gross receipts tax with merchants liable for paying it.

The bracket system means you'll pay one cent tax on purchases from 15 to 54 cents, two cents on purchases from 55 to 80 cents and three cents from 81 to $1.

The gross receipts bill was passed to plug an estimated $6 million loophole in state revenue caused when the Missouri Supreme Court ruled the tax could not be collected from vending machine operators on sales below 25 cents.

The governor vetoed a bill that would have allowed banks to establish separate facilities within 4,000 yards of the parent institutions. Present limit is 1,000 yards.

The bill also would have allowed the facilities to accept loan payments and sell drafts and cashier's checks.

It was attacked in the legislature as a step toward branch banking.

In his veto message the governor said the bill might benefit a few banks but on the whole would be detrimental to the banking industry.

Also signed was a bill to give the Superintendent of Insurance power to enjoin unauthorized companies or individuals from engaging in insurance business.

Answers
Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Our beautiful 17-year-old daughter is in the bedroom sobbing her heart out. Her steady boy friend, Artie, told her this afternoon that he wants his ring and picture back. He didn't give any reason—just that he wants to date other girls and spend more time on athletics.

Do you know what it's like to hear a 17-year-old say she doesn't want to go on living? She hardly touched her dinner tonight and her eyes look like red coals. When she was telling us about her tragedy both my husband and I broke down and wept. Please say something to give us all courage.—EMPTY HEARTS.

Dear Empty: If this is a tragedy I'm a belly dancer in a kooch joint. High school kids break up by the thousands every day. Pictures, rings, sweaters, pins and bracelets are shot back and forth like ping pong balls. Instead of weeping with your daughter you should have told her that the cry baby who folds like an accordion when things don't go her way is in for a rough time.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you said many people who want replies in the mail enclose envelopes which they address to Ann Landers instead of to themselves. You expressed surprise that so many people make this mistake.

Why? Don't you know the average American is a moron? I've worked in our city hall for 20 years and nothing surprises me anymore.

Home Care of Milk

At doorstep or kitchen milk comes into the homemaker's care. Without proper handling the milk her family uses may lose quality—in cleanliness, flavor, and food value.

To keep fresh milk at its best, follow the rule of the 3 C's and a D. Keek milk Clean, Cold, Covered, and Dark. Milk holds both food value and flavor best when kept cold. It's good practice to take each new bottle or carton of milk straight to the sink, rinse it unopened under cold running water, and dry it with a clean cloth. Then promptly put the milk in the refrigerator. Stored near the freezing unit milk can be expected to keep good quality and flavor for three or four days, perhaps a little longer.

Lawyer Helps Chase Down His Own Client

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A lawyer helped chase down his own client Wednesday when the man bolted from the Cole County courthouse. The man was finally pulled down two blocks away by a former University of Missouri Football player.

The escapee was Harry Arthur McIntosh who had just lost a fight against extradition to Topeka, Kan., to face burglary and robbery charges.

The attorney, David Brydon, noticed McIntosh heading for the stairs and called for him to stop, but McIntosh broke into a run.

He ran two blocks through an alley with Brydon and others in pursuit. When they reached the Jefferson state office building, Brydon shouted to Jerry Wallach, former M.U. football player, and Wallach stopped him with a tackle.

The 6-foot-4 McIntosh was returned to the Cole County jail.

Blast, Fire Hits Quaker Oats Plant

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—The top floors of the Quaker Oats Co. feed plant here were destroyed by an explosion and fire late Wednesday.

There were no injuries. The explosion occurred just two hours after the plant had closed for the day.

Eight fire companies fought the blaze for two hours before it was put out. Investigators attributed the explosion to spontaneous combustion of grain dust.

When firemen arrived, the top floor of the four-story building had collapsed onto the third floor. Both floors were burned out and the lower two floors were damaged heavily by water.

James Esson, plant manager, made no estimate of the damage, but said it would be considerable.

containers stands in a sunny window or unprotected on a doorstep, it loses riboflavin, and may develop a "sunlight" off-flavor—all in brief a time as half an hour. If milk is delivered in clear-glass bottles and can't be refrigerated promptly, provide a wood or metal receiving box for it, preferably a box that is insulated. Some milk is sold in dark-glass bottles; these give better light protection than clear glass.

When using milk, keep it out of the refrigerator just long enough to pour the amount wanted for immediate use.

Don't mix new milk with old, unless for immediate use. Bacteria that cause stale flavor increase in stored milk, even in pasteurized milk in good storage conditions.

Is milk that has frozen in the refrigerator or on the doorstep safe to use? Freezing does not harm either the wholesomeness or the nutritive value of milk. The texture of nonhomogenized milk is not as smooth after freezing as before, but the texture of homogenized milk remains smooth. Freezing milk in glass bottles frequently breaks the seal, exposes the milk to air, and may allow it to become contaminated.

Nonfat dry milk stored on a cupboard shelf will keep in good condition for several months, if the storage place is dry and not too warm—preferably not above 75 degrees F. It can be kept in the refrigerator if you prefer. Wherever nonfat dry milk is stored, keep the container tightly covered. Close it immediately after use. Dry milk takes up moisture and becomes lumpy if exposed long to air.

Dry whole milk should be stored tightly closed in the refrigerator once the container has been opened.

Evaporated and condensed milk may be kept on a cupboard shelf if the can is unopened. Canned milk holds quality longer if the storage place is cool. Lumping or settling of evaporated milk sometimes occurs during storage; this can be prevented by shaking or inverting the cans occasionally. Once opened, keep the milk clean and protect it against off-flavors.

Freeze Berries
Blackberries, Raspberries, Dewberries, Loganberries, and Youngberries—Select firm plump, fully ripe, berries with glossy skins. Green berries may cause off-flavor. Sort, wash, and drain.

Sirup pack for berries to be served uncooked—pack berries into containers and cover with cold 40 or 50 per cent sirup depending on sweetness of the fruit. Leave head space. Add crumbled freezer paper to hold fruit under sirup. Seal, label, and freeze.

Sugar pack is used for pie, cobbler and jam. To 1 quart berries add ¾ cup sugar. Turn berries over and over until most of the sugar is dissolved. Fill containers, leaving head space. Seal, label, and freeze.

Crush or put through a strainer, ricer, or mill to use for toppings. To each quart of puree, add one cup of sugar. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Cool, pack into containers, seal, label, and freeze.

Bobby Says No Formula For Fitness

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy takes physical fitness in stride. He has no formula and no advice to the lazy.

"I don't do any pushups or anything like that," the New York Democrat said in a quickie interview.

He simply skis, swims, climbs a mountain, hikes, sails, skin dives, plays baseball, ice skates and throws a mean football around.

He's off Friday to shoot some rapids on the Yampa and Green Rivers in Colorado and Utah, taking his wife and at least five of their nine children. It's a typical vacation for Kennedy.

He is seldom not doing something.

When Kennedy was attorney general and Associate Supreme Court Justice Byron R. White was his deputy, Kennedy kept a football on the mantel in his office. The two—White was an all-American in college—tossed the ball back and forth at times while trying to unsmile legal problems.

The Kennedy family touch football games became famous when John F. Kennedy became president. All the brothers, sisters, in-laws and sometimes children joined in.

An outsider who played on Robert Kennedy's team described him as an aggressive player and a "chatterman," all the time talking his side to better efforts.

Kennedy, though slight for a football player, made the varsity football team when he was a Harvard student.

Now 39, he is 5 feet 10 and weighs 165.

He had never climbed a mountain. But the Canadian government named a peak in honor of his late brother, the president. Last March Sen. Kennedy climbed that mountain, up near the Alaskan border.

"He was tougher than we thought; he's a pretty rugged fellow," one of the veteran climbers said of Kennedy.

When John F. Kennedy was president, Robert Kennedy joined the craze for 50-mile hikes. He set out early one cold February morning in 1963 and walked 50 miles in 17 hours.

Kennedy includes his wife Ethel and their children in the games and sports. They went camping out in Oregon a few years ago. This weekend they'll be riding in huge rubber rafts down the Yampa and Green Rivers.

And there was the time last December in New York when skaters at Rockefeller Center spotted seven Kennedys—father, mother and five of the children—out on the skating rink.

Drowns In Big Blue

KANSAS CITY (AP)—LeRoy Shouse, 17, of Belton, Mo., drowned Wednesday in the Big Blue River at 124th Street and Blue River Road.

The boy was swimming with a brother, Everett Shouse, 20, and brother-in-law, Ernest Charles Attebury, 32. Everett told police his brother, who could

Show Your Colors July 4

In 1831, William Driver expressed the sentiment of Americans past, present and future when he named the national colors Old Glory. All Americans should fly their flags proudly this Fourth of July—and every other nice day this summer. Here are 10 tips on the proper way to show your colors, as featured in the U.S. Steel News.

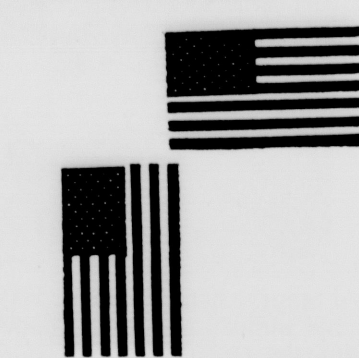

In processions, the flag should be on the marcher's right if there are two flags or in front of the center of a line of flags, shown above.

If two flags are crossed, U.S. flag is at its own right with staff on outside. In a group, it's at center with the highest point.

If flown on same staff with state or city flag or pennant, U.S. flag goes at the top of the standard.

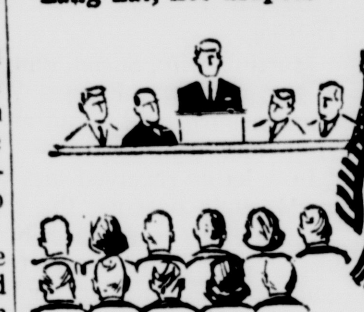

On a wall, the union, the blue field with stars, is placed at the observer's top left, as shown.

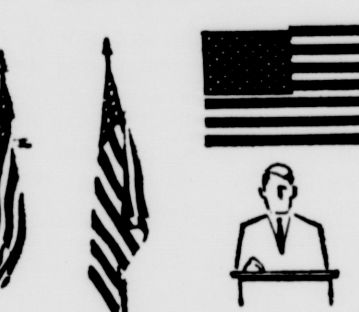

Extended from buildings, union should be away from building and flag should hang flat, not draped.

Across a street, union is placed north on an east-west street and east on a north-south street.

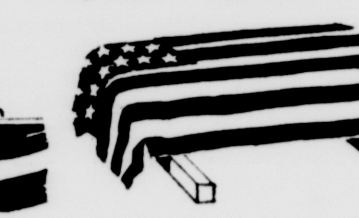

In an audience, flag is placed on the group's right side, left of speaker.

On a platform, flag is above and behind speaker or at speaker's right if on staff.

Flag should never be used as decoration. Bunting should be used with the blue at the top.

At a military funeral flag should be lengthwise on casket with union over deceased's left shoulder.

not swim, stepped off into deep water and disappeared. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shouse of Belton, watched the recovery operations.

Flattery is never so agreeable as to our blind side; commend a fool for his wit, or a knave for his honesty, and they will receive you into their bosom.

Heart Surgery Successful On Tiny Youngster

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Little Maria Kim Atzinger is beginning to throw her weight around.

Maria weighs 12 pounds 1 ounce and is considered among the smallest patients to successfully undergo heart surgery.

Maria has weathered some storms in her 18 months. At birth she weighed 3 pounds, 7 ounces. Her first seven weeks were spent in a hospital incubator.

When she was one year old, Maria would grip her mother's hand and try to walk.

But, she weighed only 10 pounds.

"She was so small people thought she was only a few months old," said her mother, Mrs. Jerome Atzinger.

Mrs. Atzinger said that she was ill during pregnancy, apparently from German measles.

Doctors found the baby suffered from a congenital heart defect, aggravated by severe hypertension.

Maria weighed 11 pounds 8

Miss Bonnie Marie Kelly Weds Robert Wayne Peterson in June

Mrs. Richard W. Peterson

The evening wedding of Miss Bonnie Marie Kelly to Mr. Robert Wayne Peterson took place at eight o'clock Friday, June 11 at Wesley Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Murray, 623 East 18th. Mr. Peterson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Peterson, Route 2, Marshall.

Before a setting of lighted tapers, white roses and ivy, the bride, who was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her step-father, wore a wedding gown of veiled silk organza in a slim sheath silhouette. The bodice was styled with an oval neckline and below elbow sleeves, with a shaped band of silk molding the lifted waist. Held by miniature fabric bows, a Watteau train extended to chapel length. A tracery of pearls and Alencon lace circled the neck, banded the slender skirt and framed the square panel train.

Her bouffant elbow length veil of imported French illusion was held in place by a large organza rose appliqued in hand clipped French lace and pearls. She carried a cascade arrangement of white roses, accented with deep green trailing ivy and French chrysanthemums. Her only jewelry was a single strand white satin basket in the bride's path, Miss Laura Beth Peterson, niece of the bridegroom, was gown in a floor length dress of white eyelet over lime silk. The frock was styled with puff sleeves and a lifted waistline banded in lime, ending in a flat bow and long streamers at the back. She wore a coronet of ivy in her hair.

Ushers were Mr. Robert Pace, Mr. John Boatright, Mr. William True and Mr. Gene Flint, all of Marshall.

The Rev. C. F. Kessinger, Osceola, assisted by the Rev. George Sparling, officiated at the ceremony.

Mrs. David Bryce, Sedalia, sang "Because" and "One Hand, One Heart," accompanied by Mr. Bill Bob Long, at the piano. Mr. Long also played traditional wedding selections.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church fellowship hall for approximately 300 guests. The bride's table was centered with a large three tiered cake, featuring a miniature bride and groom. The table was covered with a white lace cloth, caught up in ruffles with large white satin bows and ivy clusters. Lime green baroque candles, white roses and arrangements of ivy completed table appointments. Cake, punch and assorted mints were served.

Mrs. William Peterson, Mrs. Mertie Grimes and Miss Rebecca Brooks served at the bride's table.

Attending the gift tables were Miss Nancy Marcum, Miss Pat Helms and Mrs. Albert Kriesel. Mrs. Bette Wise presided at the guest book.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Murray chose a two piece yellow silk dress, a hat of yellow organza and white accessories. Mrs. Peterson wore a blue lace sheath with accessories of blue. Their corsages were of cream colored orchids.

The couple left for a short trip to the Ozarks. For traveling, the bride chose a white lace over powder blue A-line dress. A white picture hat, all white accessories and a small green Cymbidium orchid completed her costume.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson are residing in Marshall, where they will both attend Missouri Valley College this fall. Mrs. Peterson is a 1962 graduate of Smith-Cotton High School. Mr. Peterson was graduated from Marshall High School.

Several parties and showers were given for the bride couple. A rehearsal dinner was held June 10 at Holiday Inn, with the bridegroom's parents as hosts. Approximately 25 members of the wedding party were present.

The head table was covered with white linen. White baroque candles and small white roses in crystal bowls were placed at intervals down the center of the table.

A shower was given for the bride at the home of Mrs. Crawford.

Mrs. Stauffacher, Mrs. Paul O'Dell and Mrs. Virgil Miller were hostesses.

Petits fours, coffee, punch and mints were served to approximately 25 guests.

Miss Kelly was honor guest at a miscellaneous shower June 1, given by women of the Herndon Community, at the home of Mrs. Earl Cundiff.

The gift table was covered with a handmade white lace cloth over green. Suspended over the table, was a green umbrella, draped in green net and decorated with bouquets of tiny white flowers. Bouquets of garden flowers were used in receiving rooms.

Mrs. John Boatright and Mrs. Kenneth Mizner conducted several games.

Cakes, individually decorated with small green parasols, and lime punch and mints were served to approximately 55 guests.

Mrs. Bette Wise, Miss Sandi Bennett and Miss Nannette Yancy entertained at a miscellaneous shower for the bride June 7 at the home of Mrs. Wise.

Pink and white streamers made a canopy over the gift table, which was centered with a large silver and white wedding bell.

Cookies and punch were served.

It was on June 16 that Mr. and Mrs. John R. Martin and children, Julia Ann and John Milton, embarked on a three-year education mission to Peru, South America, and are now situated at LaPlanicie, about 16 miles from Lima.

Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Verrel M. Martin, 2403 Kay Avenue, a 1959 graduate of Sacred Heart High School, and a 1964 graduate of Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, will teach science at Villa Maria College. Last year, he was principal of St. Thomas School R-II, Cole County, St. Thomas.

Martin's wife, Susan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Whitt, Warrensburg, will be an art advisor and consultant.

In a letter received last week by Martin's parents, the school and facilities were described as ultra-modern and complete, including a swimming pool. LaPlanicie is in a valley, surrounded by mountains.

The Martins will live in a modern three bedroom home, containing all the conveniences of modern living. They have found of interest, he wrote, the hectic and horn blowing traffic, the living pace, with its siesta daily from 2:30 to 4 p. m., and early bedtime and late rising.

About Town

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Downs returned to their home in Chicago Tuesday after a two day visit with Mr. Downs' mother, Mrs. Minnie Downs, 1610 South Prospect, his grandmother, Mrs. Betty Shelley, LaMonte, and other relatives.

100-Year War On Sin

By TOM A. CULLEN
European Staff Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LONDON — Winston Churchill listed William Booth as one of the great generals of history, yet Booth's name appears in none of the military annals.

Not only did he not lead men into battle against a foreign enemy, but General Booth never fired a shot in anger as far as is known. As founder of the Salvation Army, however, General Booth will probably be remembered long after most of the captains and the kings have departed.

Currently, delegates from all parts of the world, some 2,500 strong, are gathering in London to celebrate the centenary of the Salvation Army and to pay homage to Booth.

Queen Elizabeth opened the festivities on June 24 and they will close on July 2 with a thanksgiving service at Westminster Abbey when a plaque honoring Booth will be unveiled.

It is 100 years since William Booth walked among the ragged and drunken crowds of Whitechapel in East London for the first time. As the doors of the gin mills swung to and fro he heard the obscene laughter, saw mothers force beer from chipped mugs down the throats of their babies to keep them quiet.

That night when he returned home to his wife, Catherine, Booth announced, "I have found my destiny."

Booth was then 36 years old, a striking-looking man with a hawk nose and a straggly beard like that of Moses. But he was a failed Methodist preacher; in fact he didn't feel at home in any religion. However, he now set to work with zeal to reclaim the East London slums.

The name "Salvation Army" was not adopted until 1878, but this undoubtedly was Booth's greatest stroke of genius. He gave his followers snappy uniforms and a "Blood and Fire" flag to march with.

Salvationists "wage war" against sin. They man "cicads" and "forts," and when they raise their right hands in public declaration this is known as "fixing bayonets." Praying is known as "knee drill."

The success of the movement was phenomenal. When General Booth died in 1912, at 83, his Army had spread from the East London slums to 58 countries. The general himself traveled five million miles, preached 60,000 sermons during his lifetime.

Today, the Salvation Army, with two million members, is still dispensing "soup, soap and salvation." As part of its social services it serves 23 million cut-rate meals a year and supplies 11 million hostel beds. In the United States an estimated 800,000 alcoholics have been helped by its Harbor Light centers.

What isn't generally known about the Salvation Army is that it was born of blackened eyes and broken heads, being for many years the object of a persecution campaign that was as vicious as it was senseless.

In the 1880s Salvationists were pelted with rotten eggs, often supplied by saloon keepers, and pepper was thrown into their eyes. In Whitechapel the tam-bourine lassies were roped together and showered with live coals.

The climax came in Worthing, a sedate summer resort on the GENERAL AND HIS LADY: William Booth and his wife Catherine created and directed the Army for more than half a century.

Sussex coast, when a brigade of guardsmen had to be called out to quell the rioting of 4,000 hooligans bent on massacring a handful of Salvationists.

The Army's history in the United States has been equally stormy. A colorful Salvationist from San Francisco known as "Joe the Turk" got himself arrested 53 times for holding open-air meetings. Joe made history in other ways. He was the first Salvationist to dress up as Santa Claus, to play the saxophone at revival meetings and to send a copy of the War Cry, the Army's newspaper, to Pope Leo XIII.

Today some say that the Salvation Army has outlived its usefulness. While it may have served a purpose a century ago, there is no place for such a curbstome church in the Great Society, it is claimed.

Its open-air meetings, at which Salvationists bear witness, are a waste of time, it is argued. So is the Army's door-knocking technique. Even the Army's uniforms and its military terminology are ridiculed in some quarters as the relics of Victorian jingoism.

To all of these criticisms General William Booth had an answer. In one of his last speeches, delivered when he was almost blind, Booth supplied his followers with ammunition which is good today, or so the Army claims.

"While women weep as they do now, I'll fight," the general cried. "While little children go hungry as they do now, I'll fight... while there yet remains one dark soul without the light of God, I'll fight—I'll fight to the very end!"

Candy Firm Merger Has Been Cancelled

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The government has dropped a federal anti-trust suit against Fanny Farmer Candy Shops Inc., of Rochester and Russell Stover Candies Inc., of Kansas City.

The firms had planned to merge, but announced Monday night they had dropped the plan in the wake of a government complaint.

Judge John O. Henderson Tuesday approved a motion by U.S. attorneys to withdraw civil action. On Monday he had issued a temporary restraining order to prevent the merger.

The government complaint said the firms agreed in March to merge, subject to stockholder approval, with Stover acquiring all of Farmer's outstanding stock in exchange for Stover common stock worth more than $23 million.

Demonstrations At School Set For Next Fall

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Demonstrations protesting de facto racial segregation will mark the opening of public schools next September in 24 Northern and Western states, the director for education of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said today.

The director, June Shagaloff, discussing target areas at the 56th annual NAACP convention, said:

"Boston school officials have refused to act; Bridgeport, Conn., will certainly be considered among Northern systems where meaningful corrective action has not been taken."

In New York State, Roosevelt, Mount Vernon, and Buffalo were listed as possible sites for school demonstrations. Chicago and Portland, Ore., are other localities "to mention only a few," Miss Shagaloff said.

Dr. Buell Gallagher, president of the City College of New York, told the convention Tuesday night the civil rights drive could leave behind "deep and angry scars" or "unity and serenity."

"It is ours to make, in this generation," Gallagher said.

Gallagher said goals of the drive were "liberty, fraternity, and equality," and none of the three could stand successfully alone.

Hazelwood School Gets Federal Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The office of Education Tuesday announced approval of $116,729 for Hazelwood school District No. RB 1, Hazelwood, Mo., with an initial payment of $87,546.

The money, for public school maintenance and operational expense, is provided under a law which gives relief to school districts that are called on to educate the children of federal employees who live on, or work on, tax exempt property.

OBITUARIES

William E. Bennett (Sedalia)

William E. Bennett, Sr., 75, 1114 East Seventh, died at Bothwell Hospital at 3 p.m. Wednesday.

Born in Sedalia, March 14, 1890, the son of the late Charles and Martha Mayer Bennett, he lived his entire life in Sedalia. He had not been in good health for several years.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ruby Bennett, of the home; four daughters, Mrs. Catherine Hunsdahl of the home; Mrs. Margaret Lincoln, Weston, Mo.; Mrs. Myrtle Mathews, Sedalia, Route 4; Mrs. Mildred Smith, 1020 East 13th, one son, SSgt. Richard Bennett, a Marine stationed at Millington, Tenn., one sister, Mrs. Lydia Starkey and one brother, Carl Bennett, both of Sedalia, and 14 grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by one son, William E. Bennett, one daughter, Mrs. Elva Burke, three brothers, one sister, and one grandson.

The body is at the McLaughlin Chapel where funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday, with the Rev. Jack Butler, pastor of the East Sedalia Baptist Church, to officiate.

Burial will be in Crown Hill Cemetery.

Palbearers will be: William Heath, Ernest Matthews, Richard Burk, Forrest Smith, Archie Bennett and James Garrigus.

Tom Trout will sing "Good Night, Good Morning" and "Beyond the Sunset," with Miss Donna Nave at the organ.

Mrs. Dora Gross (Clarksburg)

Mrs. Dora Gross, 82, Clarksburg, died at 4 a.m. Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Willie Schlup, California, with whom she had been living for the past seven years. She had been bedfast since February.

She was born in Lancaster, Ky., Feb. 12, 1883, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ruben Farris. On Dec. 23, 1903, she was married to Mose Gross, who managed the "Aunt Ann" Robertson Farm, three miles southwest of Clarksburg. Mr. Gross preceded his wife in death on May 31, 1958.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Nannie Schlup and Mrs. Lucy Moseley, both of California; Mrs. Martha Chapel, Wichita, Kan.; two sons, George Gross, Tipton; Dalton Gross, Clarksburg; 18 grandchildren and 23 great-grandchildren. She was preceded in death by two brothers, Charles and Tildon Farris.

She was a member of the Mt. Moriah Baptist Church, Clarksburg.

Funeral services will be held at the Richards Funeral Home, Tipton, at 2 p.m. Friday, with the Rev. J. L. Freeman officiating.

Mrs. O. W. Kinnear will sing "Sweet Bye and Bye," and "The Old Rugged Cross" accompanied by Mrs. Stanley Palmer.

Palbearers will be Ronald Chapel, Willie Schlup, James Moseley, Virgil Phoenix, Derry Brownfield, and Mack Gross.

Burial will be in the Mt. Moriah Cemetery, 2½ miles south of Clarksburg.

The body is at the Richards Funeral Home, Tipton.

Market Has Regained Fourth of Its Loss

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, winding up six weeks of gradual decline, has gained back in two days more than 25 per cent of the loss. It smashed to its biggest gain in 19 months Wednesday in heavy trading.

The surge, which took the widely watched Dow Jones industrial average up more than 16 points, was the biggest since Nov. 26, 1963, the first day of trading after President Kennedy's assassination.

Volume Wednesday totaled 6.93 million shares.

Small Girl Is Still Missing After 5 Years

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) — "Gee, she'd be in the fourth grade by now and could read," said Lupe Gallegos of Alamogordo.

Mrs. Gallegos is the mother of Sharon Lynn Gallegos who was not quite five years old when she disappeared July 21, 1960.

As the fifth anniversary of the child's disappearance approaches, Mrs. Gallegos wrote Sen. Joseph Montoya, D-N.M., to ask for assistance.

Montoya said FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover had been asked whether the investigation is complete and to furnish her with an up-to-date report.

"I should be hearing from Mr. Hoover in the very near future, and I shall contact you at that time," Montoya's letter said.

Mrs. Gallegos also asked for publicity of the case hoping Sharon might read it and notify authorities.

An FBI bulletin circulated after the disappearance quotes witnesses as saying a man and woman kidnaped Sharon and that they were driving an old model, dark green car.

Sharon was playing with other children at the time and one was quoted by officers as saying the car had stopped and the woman asked Sharon to come with her, promising to buy her clothes and candy. When Sharon refused, the playmate said, the woman dragged her into the car.

Other reports indicated the woman was seen in the vicinity of the Gallegos home several times prior to the incident.

Agents Practice What They Teach

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Two FBI agents were called away from a bank robbery seminar to investigate a real robbery Tuesday.

One of the agents was lecturing suburban Prairie Village and Overland Park police officers on preserving evidence when the Guaranty State Bank at 1000 Minnesota Ave. was robbed of about $6,700.

He and another agent were ordered to the holdup scene. A third FBI man remained to continue the instruction.

A young, well-dressed man displayed a pistol and handed a note demanding money to a teller, Miss Adele DeBolt. The note said, "If you give the alarm, you'll be shot."

The bandit, who fled on foot, was described as about 20 years old and six feet one inch tall. Jack H. Smith, president of the bank, said the loss was covered by insurance.

No More Barricades

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — No more barricades by residents on Patrick Street and Tree Top Avenue — that's the ruling by the city law department.

The law office ruled the roads are public ways and must be kept clear.

Los Angeles, Calif., three brothers and two sisters.

The body is at the Gillespie Funeral Home.

Cecil W. Carroll

Funeral services for Cecil W. Carroll, 61, Route 2, Green Ridge, who died Sunday, were held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Ewing Funeral Home, with Rev. Peter Whittier, Kansas City, officiating.

Palbearers were: James Hordford, Perry Smith, Harry Mosby, Leo Brown, L. L. Studer Jr., and Charles Ackers.

The Rev. Peter Whittier officiated, assisted by the Rev. Harry Fockle.

Paul Rothenberger, Leslie Rothenberger, Mrs. Gladys Miller and Mrs. Viola Young sang, "The Beautiful Life" and "Kneel at the Cross." Mrs. C. C. DeLozier was at the organ.

Burial was in Memorial Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Nellie S. Hay

Funeral services for Mrs. Nellie S. Hay, 89, 519 West Fourth, who died Monday, were held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Campbell-Lewis Chapel, Marshall.

Burial was in Ridge Park Cemetery, Marshall.

Mrs. Addie Page

Funeral services for Mrs. Addie Page, 82, Route 2, Ottaville, who died Monday, were held at 2 p.m. Thursday, at the Neumeyer Funeral Home, with the Rev. E. L. Dillon, officiating.

Mrs. June Winebrenner and Mrs. Charlene Hofstetter sang, "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Beyond the Sunset" accompanied by Mrs. Logan Vaughn.

Palbearers were grandsons and one nephew: Darwin Schroder, Larry Castle, Jerry Page, Ronnie Page and Cecil Smith.

Burial was in the Smithton Cemetery.

Accidents

A hit-and-run accident in the 2000 block of South New York which occurred sometime between 9 and 10 p.m. Tuesday damaged the grille and hood of a 1965 Ford owned by Dennis Richard Houk, 1207 South Arlington. The report of the accident was made Wednesday afternoon.

A one-car accident at 412 West Johnson at 1:20 p.m. Wednesday damaged the right front fender of a 1962 Oldsmobile, driven by Roy Dean Jordan, 37, 403 North Moniteau. The car struck a utility pole when Jordan apparently lost control of the vehicle. He was issued a police summons for careless and imprudent driving.

The intersection of 12th and Center was the scene of a two-car accident at 4:07 p.m. Wednesday.

Involved were a 1957 DeSoto, driven by Bette G. Rose, 17, 1112 West Seventh, and a 1959 Simca, driven by Lillian I. Kronk, 18, Route 4.

Police said Miss Kronk sustained abrasions to both knees and a cut on the head in the mishap.

Damage was to the left side of the Rose auto and to the front of the Kronk vehicle.

Miss Kronk was issued a police summons for careless and imprudent driving and is to appear in police court July 9.

Magistrate Court

Cleo Vansell, 421 East 26th, waived a preliminary hearing in Magistrate Court Thursday morning and was bound over for Circuit Court trial on a charge of molesting a minor.

The state warrant alleges he was involved in an incident June 18 with a two-year-old boy.

Vansell is free on $1,800 bond returnable to the September term of Circuit Court.

Police Reports

A Sedalia sentenced to 30 days in the city jail after pleading guilty Monday to three traffic charges has been released to enter the Veterans Hospital in Kansas City for treatment.

Robert Whiteman, 604 West Sixth, was released shortly after 3 p.m. Wednesday by Police Judge Lawrence Englund and Chief of Police William Miller. Whiteman was facing a total of 60 days in jail, however, as a previous suspended sentence was revoked.

An auto struck down a "No Parking" sign in the 200 block of South Missouri about 8:30 p.m. Wednesday night and then left the scene.

Police received a call at 12:13 a.m. Thursday reporting a subject had broken the front window at the Bungalow Tavern, 114 East Third.

A2C Ronald K. Siwert, stationed at Whiteman AFB, was arrested by police on a charge of destruction of property. The complaint was signed by Mrs. Jack Alpert, wife of the proprietor of the establishment. Siwert's case was continued to July 6 in Police Court Thursday morning.

Police are investigating a rash of thefts and attempted thefts of change from soda vending machines at local laundromats and service stations during the night. All the incidents were discovered by patrolling officers between 3 and 5 a.m. Thursday.

Machines where entrance was gained included these locations, police said, Dutch-Maid Laundry, Seventh and Emmet; Thrifty Laundromat, Broadway and Emmet; Thrifty Laundromat, Third and Engineer; Daugherty's Conoco, Main and Missouri; and the Dutch-Maid Laundry, 1809 South Limit.

Attempts were made to enter machines at Bacon's Sinclair, Third and Osage; Phillips 66 Service, Broadway and Lamine; and at the Imperial Station, East Broadway.

Police said the amount of loss from the vending machines was undetermined, but it was believed small in all cases.

One cash box from a soda machine was recovered by police in the 100 block of South Washington.

Police were holding a Sedalia youth Thursday on a city misdemeanor charge of purchasing a case of 5 per cent beer with false identification.

James Oliver, 18, 1109 East Tenth, was being held in lieu of $25 bond and a date for court appearance had not yet been set.

Police alleged that Oliver purchased the beer from the Tally Ho Liquor Store on East 12th. The complaint was signed by Carl Stratton.

Jack Delph, principal of Mark Twain School, reported a brown ladies purse was found in the doorway of Mark Twain School Wednesday. The purse was brought to the police station.

Police received a report of several boys lighting firecrackers and throwing them into a yard at 608 North Grand Wednesday. When police arrived the youths scattered leaving a bicycle which was brought to the police station.

Police Court

Loran Mike Rossiter, Whiteman AFB, charged with driving 35 m.p.h. in a 20 mile zone, pleaded innocent and after a hearing the case was dismissed.

The case of Ward E. Busker, 2900 South Grand, charged with careless and imprudent driving was withdrawn by City Attorney John McCloskey.

The case of Roy Dean Jordan, 403 North Moniteau, charged with careless and imprudent driving in connection with an accident, was continued to July 6.

Henry V. Harker, 212 East Pettis, charged with disturbing the peace by fighting, pleaded innocent and after a hearing the case was dismissed.

Alvin Johnson, 217 East Pettis, charged with disturbing the peace by fighting, pleaded innocent and after a hearing the case was dismissed.

Paul Krause, 109 East Second, charged with failure to pay eight overtime parking tickets, forfeited a $13 bond.

Thief Has Passion For Ice Cream

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Nashville police say a man who stole a vehicle from a downtown street Tuesday night must have a passion for ice cream.

The thief's target was a motorized ice cream wagon with pink and white striped awning and tinkling music.

Officers report the vehicle was last seen moving slowly down one of Nashville's main streets.

Henry, was charged with taking a set of diamond rings valued at $200 on Nov. 30, 1964, from Mrs. Wilma Zien, 320 North Prospect.

The defendant was brought before Magistrate Frank Armstrong for a preliminary hearing Thursday morning and after being bound over for trial in the September term of Circuit Court she requested that her case be heard earlier. She was taken before the higher court later in the morning and entered the guilty plea.

The damage petition of Kathleen Randall against the Montgomery Ward Company was dismissed in Circuit Court Wednesday with prejudice to the plaintiff and at cost of the defendants.

Arthur C. Prall was granted a divorce from Mary Jane Prall in Circuit Court Thursday. Earl T. Crawford was her attorney.

The dropping of four trains between Dallas and Kansas City came several hours after the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington reversed an earlier decision and ordered an investigation of the plan.

An ICC spokesman, in announcing the investigation, said originally that the railroad could have ruled on the basis of the investigation.

But the spokesman later said he was in error, and that the railroad was free to discontinue the trains as scheduled, pending results of the investigation.

Under normal circumstances, the spokesman said, train service in such cases would be ordered continued while an inquiry was in progress.

But in the MGT case, the commission could not order continued service because of the time element involved. Under law, the ICC is required to give railroads 10 days notice before changing stop orders, and this was not done.

The original ICC order on June 18 gave permission for discontinuance without an investigation. But the commission Wednesday said it had received requests for an investigation "generally referring to the fact that this will be the last remaining passenger service to approximately 70 towns in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas."

John W. Barringer, president of the railroad, said the trains provide "no appreciable public service." Earlier he said the railroad was losing $250,000 a month out of pocket on the four daily trains, and that he wanted to put the money into improvement of freight service and rebuilding of physical properties.

Contacted after the first announcement of the investigation Wednesday, it was Barringer who pointed out that the ICC ruling was not made 10 days before trains were to be stopped.

Advised of Barringer's statement, the ICC spokesman then said his information was in error, and that the railroad was free to go ahead with dropping its passenger train service.

For the remainder of the afternoon he cavorted around a pier, eating fish thrown by anglers and scaring a few swimmers who may have mistaken his darting black body for that of a shark.

Getting friendly with ordinary people is one thing but messing with the U.S. Marines is another. Surfy found out Wednesday.

He (or she) was investigating a Marine seashore rifle range when his freedom came to an end. Still Surfy did himself proud in the struggle despite odds of 3-to-1.

Gunnery Sgt. Robert A. Gattis and Lance Cpls. Dallas Lawrence and Larry Wingate tried to lasso Surfy.

"The rope slipped," Gattis said. "You can't catch a seal with a rope."

Finally, the trio herded Surfy to the beach where they tried to wrap him in a poncho. A slippery seal is something akin to a greased pig.

"He wasn't about to be wrapped," Gattis said. The Marines finally trapped Surfy in a 55-gallon drum.

He was given a tranquilizer before being transported to the zoo, where he might decide free fish and a command performance every day is even better than the freedom of the seas.

Minor overflows also were reported at points along the Platte, Upper Grand, Blackwater, Petite Saline and Moniteau Creek in northern Missouri and Soldier Creek and Red Vermillion Creek in northeast Kansas.

Lower part of the Kansas River remained well below flood stage.

Chairman William Clark said if the reports are true and the commission finds express service to the public has been impaired, a hearing will be held.

Railway Express Agency Inc. asked the commission earlier for temporary authority to serve the area between St. Louis and Kansas City by truck. It said passenger train service had deteriorated to the point it was forced to turn to trucks.

REA said it could save $8,000 a month by supplementing rail service with truck service. It already has temporary authority.

Commission Plans Express Co. Probe

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The State Public Service Commission planned to start an investigation today of reports that Railway Express offices had been closed in some mid-Missouri cities.

Chairman William Clark said if the reports are true and the commission finds express service to the public has been impaired, a hearing will be held.

Railway Express Agency Inc. asked the commission earlier for temporary authority to serve the area between St. Louis and Kansas City by truck. It said passenger train service had deteriorated to the point it was forced to turn to trucks.

Dr. Harry E. Goddard, past president of Lions International, was speaker at the installation ceremony at Bothwell Hotel Wednesday night at the Sedalia Lions Club. Dr. Goddard, a past director of Lions International, was the guest speaker at the ceremony.

A 7 o'clock buffet dinner was served preceding the meeting to 33 Lion Club members, wives and guests.

E. B. Smith, cabinet secretary of District 26-G, served as toastmaster.

Neil Chapman presented the perfect attendance pins to 23 members.

Addison Taylor received the district governor award for securing the most new members.

The outstanding Lion of the year award, a plaque, was presented to John Mais, for his work in the club the past year. The presentation was made by Zone Chairman Tom Baker.

Sandy DeWitt presented the program singing folk songs.

Guests included International Counselor A. J. Wolfe and Mrs. Wolfe, Pilot Grove; Dr. and Mrs. Harry E. Goddard, Kennett, and Terry and Greg Smith guests of their father, E. B. Smith.

Rising Missouri Over Lowlands; Cities Are Safe

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The rising Missouri River flooded thousands of acres of lowlands from the Nebraska line to west central Missouri today, but cities and towns along the river apparently were safe.

The river spilled over onto Highway 65-24 south of Carrollton closing the road to traffic. A levy was built across the highway five miles south of the city and the route was expected to be closed for at least three days.

The Highway Patrol reported high water from the river also had closed Highway 23 ten miles north of Concordia, Highway 210 near Missouri City in Clay County, and Route D south of Lexington.

Overflow from the Platte River closed Route 3 east of Camden Point and County Route Z two miles west of Edgerton in Platte County.

The Missouri hit 20.2 feet, about 3 feet above bankful, at St. Joseph Wednesday night but was still below floodstage at Kansas City. However, overflows of 2 to 5.4 feet were reported as far downstream as Brunswick.

The river was expected to crest 4.5 feet above floodstage at Lexington this morning and 7 feet above at Waverly about noon. A crest of near bankful was expected at Jefferson City about 6 p.m. Friday.

Minor overflows also were reported at points along the Platte, Upper Grand, Blackwater, Petite Saline and Moniteau Creek in northern Missouri and Soldier Creek and Red Vermillion Creek in northeast Kansas.

Lower part of the Kansas River remained well below flood stage.

Licenses As Spur For Academic Work

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virginia legislator Junie L. Bradshaw thinks he has a way to spur academic achievement.

Bradshaw, a candidate for reelection to the House of Delegates, has urged adoption of the colors of a state college for the state's motor vehicle license plates.

The color chosen each year would be those of the college whose students achieved the highest academic average.

Sick Come To Holy Family Hospital By All Routes

By HAL BOYLE
QUI NHON, South Viet Nam (AP) — They come on infirm feet. They come on pallets laid across shoulder poles borne by friends or relatives. They come in fishnet hammocks strung on the back of a small, three-wheeled ambulance.

Each day at least a hundred young or old Vietnamese poor come for treatment at the outclinic of the Holy Family Hospital here. On its staff of 11 Catholic sisters are five from America, the only ones in South Viet Nam.

The two-floor, 44-bed hospital is built around a compound shaded by palm trees and abounding in colorful tropical flowers. It is a haven of comfort and hope for thousands of miserable refugees who have fled into the city to escape the Viet Cong.

"This area always has been a Viet Cong stronghold," said the mother superior, Sister Karen Gossman, 42, of Louisville, Ky. "In 1954 before many of them went North, they burned and looted the entire city."

Sister Karen, a robust, kindly woman with a sense of humor that beams through her spectacles, founded the hospital in 1961. She worked as a nurse on a hospital ship in the Pacific during World War II before joining the order of Catholic medical missions sisters. The order has hospitals in 35 countries.

Sister Karen told of her work as she walked through the clinic, pausing to pat a scrawny, fretful, hollow-eyed child, or cheer a worried mother.

"Two of the sisters are doctors, and they see every patient," she said. "It is the suffering of the children that affects us most, although all the adults are victims of the war in one way or the other. They have such a hopeless feeling."

"In addition to the everyday types of illness, there's been a lot of cholera, measles, plague and typhoid. In fact they are epidemic here, but the government doesn't like to admit it." The sisters work from 7 to 10 years before getting home leave. Sister Karen spent eight years in Pakistan before coming here.

An attempt is made to make the hospital self-supporting. Those of the poor who can afford it pay five piasters — about seven cents — a visit to the clinic. Ward care is 10 piasters daily. But the hospital distributes free nearly $700 worth of medicine each month. It is helped by Catholic relief agencies.

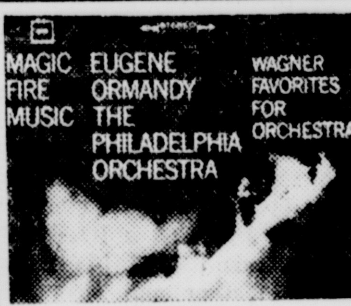

Sister Karen said that neither she nor the other sisters worry about their fate if the enemy should seize the city, which lies on the central coastal lowlands between Saigon and Da Nang. "We've given our life to God, and He has brought us here," she said. "We feel that what happens to us is His business not ours."

And then, as if afraid she had spoken too seriously, Sister Karen smiled sweetly — and made the worst pun I've heard in Viet Nam.

"You know what we call this country?" she asked, chuckling.

Courtesy Parking Tickets

A man and his wife enroute to their home in Jefferson City stopped for dinner at the Bothwell Hotel on a Friday evening. They got a parking ticket. Since then Friday night is open for parking free on Sedalia streets and parking lots. Before that occurred, however, the out-of-town visitors wrote a scorching letter to the editor with uncomplimentary remarks about Sedalia hospitality.

A few weeks ago six members of a family from Michigan stopped for lunch at the Bothwell. When they came out of the coffee shop there was a parking ticket on the windshield. The driver removed it and all the party gathered around to see what was printed on the ticket and to determine what to do about it before they resumed their trip. They didn't know the location of the city hall, or a meter box. Noting their dilemma and provocation over delay in resuming their journey, a Sedalian walked up and offered his service by acquiring the yellow ticket and telling the party he would take care of the matter for them. They expressed appreciation and left town in good humor. Later the Sedalian inserted a quarter in the envelope and deposited it in a meter box.

A mayor from another town was a business customer in Sedalia recently. He, too, let time slip away and became recipient of an overtime parking ticket. Our Mayor L. L. Studer took care of this fine out of his own pocket.

Cases like the above which come to someone's personal attention are numerous, but not so numerous as those Sedalians never hear about from out-of-town visitors. The latter just boil inwardly and try to avoid coming back here to spend their money despite the fact parking meter systems have been adopted universally by communities and the rules for overtime parking are no different here than elsewhere.

Except possibly for the use by some cities and towns of courtesy tickets for out-of-town visitors. Just how such a system can be applied equitably is under study by a committee of Sedalia councilmen appointed some months ago by Mayor Studer to formulate some plan whereby out-of-town visitors and customers may be presented with a courtesy card instead of an overtime parking ticket.

Whatever solution is arrived at, if any, will not be as simple as it appears to be particularly from the standpoint of impartiality in its application to all users of off-street and on-street parking spaces.

Any form of concession adopted will find its critics just as did the original plan for Sedalia to provide parking meters years ago.

The council committee devoting study to the enigma of taking the curse off of the community so frequently exhorted or muttered by visitors receiving parking tickets, have the tender compassion of sideline quarterbacks who themselves don't seem to have any answer to the problem.

80 Years For Liberty

The Statue of Liberty, whose lofty torch has welcomed immigrants from all over the world, is 80 years old. Auguste Bartholdi, the sculptor and Edouard Laboulaye, the Frenchman who gave him the idea were praised in the speeches commemorating the event. A gift of the French people to our nation, it was paid for by small coins given by French school children. American school children raised the money for the 150 foot base upon which the famous statue rests.

At a time when the feeling between President De Gaulle and the United States is a bit strained it is well to reflect upon the significance of this wonderful gift. The French consul in New York, stressed this sentiment when he said: "This grand lady shows clearly how closely linked in history our two peoples are. The differences between us are only temporary and will surely find quick solutions."

All through the years the Statue of Liberty has served as a lighthouse of freedom for the hundreds of thousands of refugees who have sought opportunity and asylum in this country. The French tricolor flew next to the American flag on the platform during the anniversary celebration of the lady's eightieth birthday on Liberty Island in New York Harbor.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Population of Sedalia and Pettis county as shown by preliminary count of the returns of the 16th Census is 33,269. This compares with 34,664 in 1930. Preliminary count on the number of farms is 2,471 as compared with 2,793 in 1935 and 2,825 in 1930.

— 1940 —

W. O. Stanley was re-elected president of the Sedalia Hospital Board at a meeting at Bothwell Hospital. Other officers elected are: Vice-President, I. H. Reed; Secretary, J. E. Hurley; and Treasurer, Arthur Kahn.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Plans have been completed by Smithton dairymen for establishing a cheese factory to be run on a cooperative basis at that place. Directors elected include: Roy Lutzen, George Jaeger, Ernest Selken, Joseph Monsees, N. A. Smith, John Bolte, John Bluhm, Dr. C. A. Weist, Raymond Demand, C. K. White and Theodore Koehler. Proposed capacity of the plant will be approximately 4,000 pounds of milk a day which will produce about 400 pounds of cheese.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

LBJ Spars With Old Critic-Friend

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The President certainly wishes it was true, as reported recently by a newspaper column duet, that he had silenced his No. 1 critic on Viet Nam, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., but it just ain't so. After the last private session between the Senator from Oregon and his old friend, the ex-Senator from Texas, Wayne went out to the University of Indiana and began his speech: "At San Francisco the President passed up what may have been the last opportunity to prevent major war."

Before he left Washington, Morse did have a long, tough but friendly talk with the President during which they discussed some of the Senator's earlier ideas for peace in Viet Nam. LBJ had sent these to the State Department to have them carefully analyzed and received a return memo in which the State Department described Morse's ideas as the "most closely measured" plan so far submitted on Viet Nam.

The State Department memo went on to make a counter proposal that a UN Commission be sent to Viet Nam to study the situation and report back in September. But, added the author of the memo, "Senator Morse would probably consider this a fraud."

"Would you, Wayne?" asked the President.

"Wouldn't it be, Mr. President?" replied Morse.

The President laughed.

Morse and Johnson have been sparring respectfully with each other for about fifteen years, dating back to their early days in the Senate. As Senate Majority Leader, Lyndon used to call Morse, former Dean of The University of Oregon Law School, "my attorney," and refer Senate legal problems to him. The situation continues about the same today.

Progress in Viet Nam

Despite the civil war, President Johnson has increased the public school enrollment of South Vietnamese children from 500,000 to one and a half million. He has also doubled the rice production of South Viet Nam.

"I would be glad to do this for North Viet Nam too," the President told friends the other day, "but they won't sit down and talk to me. I'm ready to talk to them at any time, anywhere, about peace and future improvement of their country, but they simply will not talk."

Out Withering UN Position

There was a lot of gossip that LBJ switched his UN speech at the last minute because the redoubtable Scotty Reston of the New York Times had tipped his hand by reporting that the President would announce a big voluntary American gift to the UN at San Francisco.

Real fact is that certain high-up Americans in the UN were urging this. But actually, the President issued three advance warnings that he wouldn't go for it. About two weeks before the speech he told a group of newsmen not to expect anything sensational from his UN speech.

Later he had George Reedy, White House press secretary, call in reporters and give them the same warning. On top of this he suggested to his friend, columnist Bill White, to play down the speech, which White did.

In one White House meeting, the President reminded advisers, "You fellows told me this was just a big ceremonial affair." And he stuck to that advice.

Many diplomats had hoped that the President would reaffirm in glowing terms our dedication to the United Nations and breathe new life into its comatose body. He may do this next September when he UN assembly meets for its 20th session.

Meanwhile you can write it down as certain that article 19 is dead and will be quietly forgotten. The view is unanimous inside the administration not to tell the Russians what they should do and how much they should pay. We'll let our position wither away and, we hope, be forgotten during the summer.

The World Today

Johnson Popularity Split In Half

By JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — As President Johnson heads into the last half of 1965 his record can also be split in half: very successful at home; a lot of unfinished, dangling overseas business that leaves the world wondering.

His popularity at home is high, the polls say. Overseas he has been criticized for his handling of foreign affairs, particularly in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic.

He hasn't shown yet the same masterful talent for foreign affairs that he has demonstrated repeatedly in domestic problems.

His relations with Congress, business, labor, and civil rights groups have been excellent and tranquil. In getting Congress to do what he wants he is well on the way to the best record since President Franklin D. Roosevelt's early days.

He talks a lot, some times moralizing, some times in platitudes and some times in a way unmatched by any president, as in a recent speech expressing his compassion (a favorite word of his) for the Negro.

The astonishing energy he has shown in working at his job always has raised the inevitable question: How long can he keep it up?

There is a broad mystification about what to expect in foreign policy where Johnson plays the cards very close. For example: In six months how much deeper might the United States be in the Vietnamese war?

When he went to San Francisco last week to address the 20th anniversary meeting of the United Nations he got a lukewarm reception although the reason is not clear.

Some of the restraint among the statesmen listening to him may have been intended to express disapproval of his foreign actions; some may have been out of disappointment that he didn't come up with new ideas and programs.

President John F. Kennedy, at his death but not in his first few months as chief executive, had a far more shining image abroad than Johnson. But this was after he got off to a bad start by backing the Cuban refugees' disastrous invasion of Cuba.

Yet, Kennedy's policy basically was not much different from Johnson's — except for the bombing of North Viet Nam.

Johnson has been criticized for intervening in the Dominican revolt, a reminder to Latin Americans of the many times this country intervened in their affairs before. They couldn't tell whether they were looking at the beginning of a similar era under Johnson.

But Kennedy got an even worse reaction for the Cuban invasion.

Kennedy had slowly been building up American forces in Viet Nam. It's useless to try to guess now what he would have done eventually if confronted with the situation Johnson faced: Growing conquest by the Viet Cong and steadily developing chaos in South Viet Nam which, without American help, would have collapsed long ago.

There have been scattered, but comparatively few, critical voices against Johnson in Congress. Will this last?

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

P. D.—Damaged Teeth Restored By Splinting

By William Lawrence, D.D.S.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Distinguished characteristics of periodontal disease, sometimes called pyorrhea, are: infection and swelling of gums, shrinkage of bone around teeth, and loose teeth. New knowledge, new techniques and new thinking in dentistry, now make it possible to successfully treat this condition. Mouths can be made healthy again.

In many cases, though, this is not enough. Bone loss around teeth can never be restored, and teeth remain loose, too loose to support themselves. Therefore they must be "fixed" to support each other, each tooth strengthening its neighbor. The general name given to this phase of dentistry is oral rehabilitation. Specifically it's called splinting.

Splinting keeps teeth in a rigid, fixed position; it builds up badly broken down, decayed teeth; it establishes proper function of teeth; and it restores them to cosmetic splendor.

Mr. Rowe's mouth was clean and healthy after his successful P. D. treatment, but two upper front teeth and one side tooth had to be extracted because of excessive bone loss and large abscesses. Remaining upper teeth were too loose to maintain themselves, and certainly too loose to support a replacement for the missing teeth.

A thorough study was made of Mr. Rowe's dental problem. This included X rays and plaster reproductions of his teeth and jaws. It was determined that he required a fixed splint which would bind his natural teeth together and also fill in gaps resulting from missing teeth.

The work was discussed in detail with the patient, explaining that it's exacting work and requires many hours of concentrated dentistry. One dentist jokingly tells his patients, "You and I are going to get very well acquainted." The time involved also makes it rather expensive. But splinting can forestall early need for full dentures and restore function and beauty to teeth for many years.

Many splinting techniques are used. Sometimes pins are sunk into teeth and held together with gold backings. Sometimes removable splints are used, or combinations of fixed and removable. The procedure of choice depends on desired end results, but taken into consideration are: condition of teeth, number of missing teeth, extent of decay, degree of mobility, position of teeth, occlusion and cosmetic effect.

In Mr. Rowe's case, all remaining teeth in the upper jaw were prepared and fitted with gold crowns. These crowns were joined (soldered) to make one bridge that extended completely around the jaw, from one side to the other.

To hide the mass of gold, the facade was cut away from each crown and "enamel like" facings of acrylic (sometimes porcelain is used) resin was baked on. From the outside they looked like natural teeth.

Results can be aesthetically beautiful and functionally perfect. Splinting is the most exciting thing that's happened to dentistry in years.

THE WELL CHILD

Sore Throats Recur After a Tonsillectomy

By Wayne G. Brandstad, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Association

A reader asks what would make her daughter, 5, have frequent sore throats. The child's tonsils were removed about two years ago in the hope that this would put an end to the sore throats. Although removal of the tonsils will prevent future attacks of tonsillitis it's no guarantee against sore throats.

Most attacks in which the sore throat is accompanied by a fever are caused by streptococcus or by various viruses. Some children in their first few years have a poor resistance to such infections.

Members of this child's household should be tested to see whether any of them are carriers of the causative organisms — especially streptococci. Aside from avoiding contact with persons who have colds and sore throats or who are carriers there is no satisfactory means of prevention.

If the cause is a streptococcus, however, penicillin can be relied on to effect a prompt cure. The commonest cause of recurrence is stopping the treatment too soon.

Q — I have been taking my daughter, 8, to a skin specialist for several months for pityriasis rosea. She just gets over one bout and it starts all over again. What do you advise?

— Since pityriasis rosea, a rash, usually clears up without treatment in six or seven weeks and since second attacks are rare, I wonder if your daughter's present rash is really pityriasis rosea. I would stop all medication for two weeks. If the rash is still present or returns you would be within your rights to get the opinion of another skin specialist.

Q — My daughter, 5, has infectious mononucleosis. According to our doctor she is younger than most persons who get it. Will she have an increased susceptibility to this disease when she reaches her late teens?

A — Infectious mononucleosis is a relatively mild disease that clears up spontaneously. It is most common in adolescents and young adults. Since a second attack is extremely rare your daughter need not worry about a return engagement.

Q — My daughter, 8, was given a glucose tolerance test. She had no sugar in her urine but the blood showed a high sugar level. If this was inherited did she get it from her father or her mother?

A — Diabetes is an inherited disease in many but not all cases. It is not passed from mothers to sons (sex-linked inheritance) like color blindness. Thus your daughter may have inherited a tendency to this disease from either parent or both.

Winthrop Already Talking About Campaign for 1966

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — On the day after the 1964 general election, Winthrop Rockefeller conceded his defeat by Gov. Orval E. Faubus in one breath and announced as a 1966 candidate for governor in the next.

Many doubted that he meant it.

Rockefeller had just competed in the most serious bid by an Arkansas Republican gubernatorial candidate in a century. He had been beaten in one of the most gruelling campaigns in Arkansas history.

Rockefeller came out of that campaign physically and emotionally exhausted. But he is a different man today.

Rockefeller talks enthusiastically about the coming race. He is busy planning for it and he expects to spend much of the next 18 months running.

While he admits that his 1964 campaign team made mistakes, he does not dwell on those mistakes or blame his aides.

"You'll find me a lot better-equipped candidate this time," the 52-year-old multimillionaire said in an interview. "Then there were a lot of areas of state government on which I was uninformed. But (next time) I'll be able to argue with authority about some state departments that are not being run in the best interest of the people."

Rockefeller appears as determined today to be elected governor as he was determined in 1953, when he left his home state of New York and came to Arkansas, to make a new life for himself.

His brother, Nelson, is a two-term governor of New York, but Winthrop was mentioned as a gubernatorial possibility in Arkansas long before Nelson's success.

Rockefeller informally started his campaign last month with visits to northwest Arkansas counties where he ran strongly in 1964.

The Republican party organization he built to help him last fall is ready to go again. This time it won't be diluted by an effort to elect a presidential candidate. Some of Rockefeller's most vigorous supporters divided their time between working for him and for Barry Goldwater.

Money Means More, Says Lema: Won't Defend Title

CHICAGO (AP)—Champagne Tony Lema, the big name in the $70,000 Western Open golf tournament starting today, can take the British Open or leave it alone.

That's news, because Lema is defending champion in the British Open next week at Southport, England.

The Western Open at Tam O'Shanter Country Club ends Saturday.

"I'm not too crazy about playing golf in England," said Lema without elaboration, except to hint he is most interested in playing any tournament for what it's worth.

"After you win a certain amount of money in golf," continued Lema—second in the PGA money-winning list, "it seems to become a matter of how many major tournaments have you won."

"I've only won the British Open as a big one and I'm in this business to make money."

"They (Western Golf Association) weren't getting too many of the top money-winners and I'm one—even if I'm not a big draw. I also don't think I can afford to pass up a tournament like this one to practice all week for another."

Skipping the Western Open are such top attractions as newly-crowned U.S. Open champion Gary Player; leading PGA money-winner Jack Nicklaus; and slumping star Arnie Palmer—all making the British Open their next stop.

Lema won last year's British Open at St. Andrews after only 36 holes of practice, flying to England, as he will do again Sunday, after the Western Open finish.

Lema last year tied for sixth in the Western, which was won by Chi Chi Rodriguez with a record-breaking 268, 16 under par.

A's Sweep Twin Bill From Sox

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Athletics, getting excellent performances from their relief hurlers, swept a two-night doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox Wednesday night, 2-1 and 4-3, in Kansas City.

The St. Louis Cardinals got back on the winning trail last night, crushing Pittsburgh, 7-1.

The A's scored twice in the first inning of the opener. Ed Charles drove Bert Campaneris home with a sacrifice fly and Mike Hershberger singled to score Jim Landis.

Kansas City held the 2-0 advantage until the ninth when Bill Skowron doubled and scored on a single by Danny Cater off reliever Don Mossi. But the Athletics' John Wyatt came out of the bullpen and retired the next three batters in order.

The A's also scored in the first inning of the nightcap. Campaneris singled. He stole second for his 26th steal of the season and scored on a throwing error by J. C. Martin.

Chicago came back, scoring single runs in the fourth, fifth and sixth to take a 3-1 lead.

Rookie Larry Stahl pulled the A's into a 3-3 tie when he tagged Sox pitcher Bruce Howard for a 2-run homer in the seventh.

In the last of the ninth, Charles singled, and after two walks, scored when Campaneris was hit by a pitch.

Fred Talbot won his sixth game of the season in the opener. He has four losses. The loser was Gary Peters, now 5-4-6, who lost to the Athletics for the first time in his career.

In the nightcap, reliever Jim Dickson was credited with the win, evening his season's record at 1-1.

The A's take today off. The Pirates scored their only run in the first inning against the Cards at Pittsburgh. Bill Virdon walked. Roberto Clement doubled and Virdon scored on an infield out.

St. Louis took over the lead in the fifth when Bill White and Ken Boyer singled and Curt Flood doubled. Tim McCarver then was intentionally walked, loading the bases, and when third basemen Bob Bailey threw to first too late on Jerry Buchek's ground out, Boyer scored the go-ahead run on the error.

The Cards put the game on ice in the eighth, scoring five runs on six singles and two walks—one an intentional pass.

Vern Law, now 8-6, allowed only four hits in eight innings, but had his winning streak snapped at eight straight Ray Washburn picked up the victory for St. Louis, evening his record at 5-5.

Curt Simmons (4-8) starts for the Cardinals tonight at Pittsburgh. Bob Veale (8-5) will pitch for the Pirates.

Firm Lead Held By Seed Firm In Shooting League

Missouri Seed Co., with 798 targets tucked away, still firmly holds the lead in the Wednesday night trap shoot league at the Sedalia Rod and Gun Club. Closest rival is S&M Athletic Goods with 776.

High league scores posted this week were by Clarence Mahin, Green Ridge, 24 targets; Vernon Arnett, Green Ridge, and Paul White, Green Ridge, with 23 targets each.

The Derby Shoot saw Bernard Dove, Green Ridge, and Ed Christian, Sedalia, tie for first with 24 targets each; second, tie between Jim Hamilton and John Rose, both of Sedalia, 22 targets; third, tie between Louis Smith, Warsaw, and Bill Norman, Knob Noster, 19 each.

The club will hold a Fourth of July trophy shoot this Sunday. Members and non-members are invited to take part. A fireworks display will be held at 9 p.m.

field of 130 pros, including eight of the top 15 PGA money winners. The field will be cut to the low 75 scorers and ties after 36 holes and to the low 60s and ties after 54 holes.

Moffitt Is Last Yank In Tourney

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., relaxed before today's women's singles semifinals in the Wimbledon Championships and said:

"The fact that I'm the last American in the Wimbledon singles will help me tremendously mentally."

Billie Jean plays defending champion Mario Bueno of Brazil and Margaret Smith of Australia tackles Christine Truman, the darling of the British fans, in the other semifinal.

Dennis Ralston, 22-year-old from Bakersfield, Calif., was eliminated in the men's singles semifinals Wednesday, losing 6-1, 6-2, 7-9, 6-1 to defending champion Roy Emerson of Australia.

In the other men's singles semifinal match, Fred Stolle of Australia defeated Cliff Drysdale of South Africa 6-3, 6-3, 7-5.

So for the third straight year Stolle is in finals. He's lost twice—once to Chuck McKinley of Port Washington, N.Y., and last year to Emerson.

Billie Jean, ranked No. 2 in United States, and seeded fifth for Wimbledon, talked about her previous tussles with Miss Bueno and said:

"She's got a slight edge on me. But we're players of similar style. She's more graceful. But I like playing her. I think I play better against her than many other players."

Vote For New Commissioner May Be July 21

DETROIT (AP)—Executives of the 20 major league baseball clubs may vote on a new commissioner when they meet in suburban Dearborn July 21.

Commissioner Ford Frick, scheduled to retire next December, announced the meeting Wednesday but said only that it would deal with a couple of amendments proposed by owners last winter.

But a reliable source said the principal business would be the discussion of a new commissioner.

Although no decision is expected to be reached, there is an outside chance a vote will be taken. Fourteen votes, at least seven from each league, are needed for election.

If there is no vote, it is almost certain that the executives will at least reduce the nomination list to a minimum. Candidates at one time were said to number more than 100.

Baseball's Oddities

Thoughts Of Bigger Money Slow Up Farrell & Owens

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—If ever a member of the Houston Astros baseball team becomes the first man to go into orbit without a space ship, Dick Farrell and Jim Owens can take credit for the launching.

The daffy duo of the Texas pitching staff once owned a nine-foot boa constrictor and one of the places they kept it was on the couch in their, uh, pad.

"The snake and the couch matched perfectly," chortles Farrell. "So we invited guys in to sit down. A few people went flying out of the room, believe me."

The Farrell & Owens act has been an almost continuously running feature in major league cities since the turn of the decade. Performances have been largely after dark, in pubs and ball parks.

Reviews have been mixed. Had they played in the American League, Boston might have banned it.

The Throwing Thespians are no strangers to bottle or battle. Once, in an attempt to divide and conquer, Philadelphia's Gene Mauch assigned the two to different rooms on the road.

Farrell & Owens would have none of it. They kept their television sets blasting until 5 a.m. every night for a week. At the end of the sleep strike, many members of the bleary-eyed Phillies threatened to quit baseball. Mauch relented and tossed them back together.

Other clubs took firmer action. When Farrell completed what the Los Angeles Dodgers considered a "half-hearted" season (8-7) in 1961, the Bums' brass were hedging on whether or not to keep him.

Farrell made up their minds for them. He pushed teammate Norm Larker into a motel swimming pool—fully clothed—and was promptly unloaded to Houston.

In Texas the Farrell & Owens routine is the best on the bill. Without them the Astro home bookings, even in the new theater, would be unspeakably dull.

For example, Farrell livens things up by admitting he throws spitballs. It's illegal as marijuana, of course, but he

Taxes Aren't Free

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A woman noticing a long line of persons at City Hall decided to join the crowd.

When she finally got to the clerk's desk, she was surprised to learn the line was for payment of taxes.

"I thought you were giving away something—for free," she told finance clerk Ruby Bakely.

Discrimination In Golf Hinders Althea Gibson

NORTHFIELD, N.J. (AP)—Althea Gibson has no regrets over giving up the glamor of world tennis queen to become just another struggler on the women's pro golf tour, but her bitterness runs deep over what she says is discrimination because she is a Negro.

"I have been on the golf tour for two years, and I still don't have a sponsor," the tall, 36-year-old product of Harlem lamented today.

"I think I have done enough for sports and have made enough of a name for myself to deserve some sort of backing—most of the other girls have it. Sponsors help pay expenses when things are lean. They keep you in the fight."

"Also, there are seven tournaments in the South that I can't play in. I don't need to name them. They are obvious—in Mississippi, Louisiana, Georgia and Florida."

"This makes it very tough on me, because I started golf so late and need every chance I can get. But I don't get the breaks and it's all because of the color of my skin."

Althea, who played before the queen in winning Wimbledon's tennis championship in 1957 and 1958, is one of 44 professionals who with 38 amateurs tee off today in the 13th National Women's Open Golf Championship.

The strong Negro girl was moved into the pairing vacated by the withdrawal of defending champion Mickey Wright.

Formula Is Working For Hershberger

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Mike Hershberger, on a three-week hitting binge for Kansas City, has his own simple formula—"I try to hit it hard enough to get by infielders but not hard enough to get to the outfielders."

Hershberger, a strong-armed outfielder, has hit safely in 12 straight games and in 22 of the last 23 games for a .360 streak average.

"I've always been something of a choke hitter," he said Wednesday night after helping the A's to a 2-1 and 4-3 doubleheader sweep over his old teammates, the Chicago White Sox.

"But after that terrible start, I went down the bat a little more, and tried to be quicker with the bat. I'm just hitting the ball where it's pitched and sticking with the same bat every game."

Hershberger was obtained from the White Sox along with outfielder Jim Landis and pitcher Fred Talbot last winter in a multi-player three-team trade with Seattle Colavito from the A's to Cleveland.

He hit in bad luck throughout the Spring, a sore right elbow hampered his throwing, fans were disappointed and he admits he was discouraged. But he didn't quit, although his average fell to around .100 at one stage.

"A couple of shots of cortisone fixed my elbow so it doesn't hamper my hitting or throwing," he said, "although it still hurts."

"I got a lot of advice about my hitting but they can't swing the bat for you," he said. "The balls are just falling in for me, that's all."

Hershberger, 25, is a native of Ohio.

His throwing arm is considered second to none in baseball by some baseball men. He is fast at 5-foot-11 and 175. His hitting record is up and down, with seasons of .262, .279 and .230 at Chicago, and a current .258.

"The trade I welcomed because I want to play every day, not just two-thirds of the time as I did at Chicago," he said. "These two victories tonight were sweet, just wonderful, wonderful, wonderful."

Bouton Has Taste Of Victory Again

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Jim Bouton has been having fun until now, he may go into ecstasy the rest of the season.

That is, if his latest outing is any indication of what is to come.

Bouton, right-handed ace of the New York Yankees' pitching staff the past two years, ended nearly two months of puzzling frustration Wednesday night as the Yankees edged Baltimore 5-4.

The victory was the first since May 8 for Bouton, who said before the season started:

"I'd like to win 20. I would have won 20 last year if I hadn't reported late. I wasn't ready when the season started. I know I'll be ready this year. It's going to be a lot more fun."

But something happened to the 26-year-old hurler after he brought his record to 3-2 May 8. He lost five straight before beating the Orioles, and even then he needed late-inning relief help from Steve Hamilton and Pedro Ramos.

Bouton now has a 4-7 record with a 5.06 earned run average. He has completed only two of 16 starts.

In other American League games Washington nipped Cleveland 2-1, Kansas City swept a doubleheader from Chicago 2-1 and 4-3, and Los Angeles whipped Minnesota 5-0. Rain washed out Detroit and Boston.

Cleveland's Sam McDowell allowed six hits and struck out 11, but the Senators still handed the Indians only their third loss in the last 19 games. Washington broke a 1-1 deadlock in the second inning on Ken Hamlin's sacrifice fly with the bases loaded.

The Athletics gained their first decision over Chicago's Gary Peters after 10 defeats in the first game. They got to Pe-

Chamberlain May Become Heavyweight

NEW YORK (AP)—Can you imagine big Wilt Chamberlain, the 7-foot-1 pro basketball star, as a heavyweight fighter?

Maybe it isn't as fantastic as it sounds. Chamberlain isn't as frail as he appears at first glance. He is a 28-year-old, sturdy 250-pounder who has held his own in many a rumput in National Basketball Association games.

Chamberlain said Wednesday he "definitely is contemplating" switching from sinking a basket to socking an opponent. "I've had several offers, but I haven't made up my mind. I'll make my decision when I'm ready. That could be anytime."

NEW YORK (AP)—Charley Smith, third baseman for the New York Mets, suffered a three-inch cut across his left kneecap in a collision in the sixth inning of Wednesday's night game with Cincinnati. He will be out at least two weeks.

Rhodesian To Stay Year In Sedalia

Miss Elizabeth Eleanor Mackie, 17, a citizen of Rhodesia, where her family has lived for nine years, is the American Field Service Student who will arrive this summer to stay a year in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hopkins, 1610 West 13th, and attend Smith-Cotton High School.

Born in Johannesburg, March 12, 1948, she is the daughter of Ronald Mackie, a consulting mechanical engineer, and Eleanor Mackie, a junior high school teacher, both of whom were born in England. She has one brother, Howard, 13.

In answer to one of the questions about herself on the application form as an AFS student, Elizabeth wrote:

Elizabeth Mackie

"My life, to some people, might seem ordinary, commonplace, even humdrum. But I cannot think of anyone I would rather be.

"You ask me why? The answer is simply because I am happy, and happiness is surely the essence of a good life. My recipe for happiness is a simple one — a united family, and a home with 'ever open doors' and friends passing in and out.

"Before my parents married, one of my mother's friends wrote to my father to say she hoped he liked visitors, because he would surely have them in abundance. Certainly that friend wrote truly; for we have kept open house for as long as I can remember. Never a day passes without someone popping in; hardly a week goes by but someone has unpacked a bag to spend a night or more with us. As my parents have lived in three countries we have visitors from many different places and from all walks of life. My brother's friends, and my own, are always given a warm welcome. So, you see, according to my recipe, I have every reason to be happy."

Elizabeth's interests over the years, she writes, have been ballet, which she studied for eight years discontinuing instruction when high school activities consumed too much time. Speech and drama study has continued since she was four. Drama, she says, is her great love.

Elizabeth has participated in school sports, hockey, swimming, tennis and net ball, with hockey as her favorite. She has attended both a private and a government high school, and plans to attend Cape-Town University in South Africa to major in English. She will also include a course in psychology. Although she expects to train for teaching as a security in the future, she hopes to work in the field of industrial psychology, either as a public relations or personnel officer.

Mrs. Eugene Winkler Leads WSCS Program

Mrs. Eugene Winkler led the program, assisted by members of Woman's Society of Christian Service of Houstonia Methodist Church June 16 at the home of Mrs. Joe Belsha, Houstonia.

Mrs. Clinton Lowrey, president, presided and read a letter from zone chairman, announcing a workshop meeting June 28 at New Bethel Church. She also read a letter from the district chairman. Devotional was given by Mrs. Jack Nagel.

Societies she has belonged to include junior and senior debating, science, art, gym and dramatic clubs.

One of her mother's routine activities is working with crippled African children in Harari alternate Fridays and Elizabeth sometimes is able to help her. She says, they both find interesting and stimulating work.

A favorite family holiday, she wrote, is visiting a private game reserve in the vicinity of the famous Knizer National Park where South African friends own a game-farm. She told of the many types of animals they see when they go in small groups.

AFS is sponsored in Sedalia by the American Association of University Women.

Fresh and refreshing

Eating pleasure is a mighty important thing when it comes to fresh fruits and vegetables. Certainly, you want your family to enjoy all the foods you serve. But with fruits and vegetables, which are so important to balance in daily nutrition, you want the kind that encourages second helpings. The kind that's wonderfully fresh. The kind you'll find at Safeway.

Big News! Exciting News!

The most important totals at Safeway are not calculated by our cash registers. Our low prices are important, but we know that real success is determined by the total of satisfaction which you calculate on each visit. It depends upon many things: big selection of finest quality fresh, frozen, canned and packaged foods; a wide range of excellent non-foods; courteous, efficient service by friendly clerks; a clean, well-arranged store; and, of course, low prices.
